/ ABOUT STARTSIDEN

Many say they associate Startsiden with his first meeting with the Internet. By offering easy access to news, information search engines, email, and other useful services, opened Home Internet for thousands of Norwegians in the 90s.

Although much has happened since the web portal was launched in 1998, the philosophy remains the same. We have collected the services Norwegians spend the most in one place. Here you will find everything you need just a mouse click away.

A complete search in partnership with Google. Try your luck in the World Wide Web, or search directly for news, images, persons, firms or map.
